

Biographical Sketch for Mary-Ann Fitzcharles

Mary-Ann Fitzcharles is a clinical rheumatologist at McGill University, with medical training at University Cape Town, South Africa, and the London Hospital, England. Over the past 20 years she has published in the area of pain and the rheumatic diseases. She has served as the Co-Chair American College of Rheumatology Pain and Fibromyalgia abstract committee; is a member of American College of Rheumatology committee for updated criteria for fibromyalgia; member Royal College of Physicians of Canada specialty core committee for Pain Medicine and member of the Royal College of Physicians of Canada examination committee for Pain Medicine. She is the lead for the 2012 Canadian guidelines for the management of fibromyalgia.